BANCROFT'S O. K. ON WOLGAST FIGHT

Promoters Say Attorney General Will Render Opinion Allowing the Bout to Go On

MORRIS STILL STANDS FIRM

Announces that Telegram to Sheriff Arnold was Final; in Milwaukee Today

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—"Whether or not the Wolgast-McFarland contest will prove to be a 'boxing match' or a 'prize fight,' will depend entirely on my opinion upon the facts as they may develop in the ring. Should the contest develop into a prize fight it would of course be the duty of the sheriff to stop it."

This opinion was rendered by Attorney General Levi Bancroft this afternoon.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 13.—It is announced that today Attorney General Levi Bancroft will make public an opinion declaring the Wolgast-McFarland meeting is not a prize fight, and therefore may be carried out.

The prosecuting attorney of Milwaukee county insists that the proposed bout is positively a "prize fight" under the laws of this state, and that he will not alter his opinion to conform with that of the attorney general.

Sheriff Arnold declares he will accept the opinion of the local prosecutor, and will pay no attention to that of the attorney general, nor will he heed even an injunction should one be handed down by the courts, excepting upon one condition.

That condition is that the acting governor shall issue an order directing him to permit the fight to proceed.

Acting Governor Morris, who is here at the Plankinton house attending a meeting of the state board of normal regents, says that he will not deviate from his original order directing the sheriff, if a "prize fight" is attempted, to enforce the law prohibiting such spectacles.

"I expect the sheriff to do his duty. I said my last word on the proposed fight when I sent my telegram to the sheriff. I have nothing more to say," said Mr. Morris this morning.

May Call it Off

With this situation staring them in the face, it will be definitely decided this afternoon by the promoters whether to call off the bout or proceed in the face of the opposition following a conference with Attorney General Bancroft.

This statement was given the United Press at noon today by Harlan Zea, president of the National A. C., promoting the affair.

It's a Go, Says Mulkern

On the other hand, this statement was made today by Frank Mulkern, who is in charge of arrangements for the fight:

"The McFarland-Wolgast show will be held as scheduled Friday evening, September 15. An opinion from the attorney general will be received by the district attorney this afternoon. I am positive that the show which we will give will be declared not to constitute a violation of the state law. I have submitted the articles of agreement signed by McFarland and Wolgast to the attorney general, together with all other facts about the show. His opinion, therefore, will be based upon the exact facts covering the show which we will give. There will be no interference."

An Intimidating Suggestion

Attorneys for the promoters declare their belief Arnold will not take a step which would "lay him liable to contempt of court as well as civil action for damages."

With the Wisconsin state fair on hand, merchants and hotel men declare they stand liable to lose $100,000 if the fill is stopped.

McFarland Nervous

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Packey McFarland is still grinding at hard training today for his bout with Champion Ad Wolgast at Milwaukee Friday night. The stockyards lad went through his final workout today. Tomorrow he will do light work unless his weight is bothersome. Packey is worried over the uncertainty of the bout.

HAS PLEASURE RAILROAD

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A miniature railroad running from the east side of the villa of Mrs. Harold F. McCormack in Lake Forest to the beach of Lake Michigan, at the bottom of a fifty foot bluff, has been surveyed. The railroad will be used to convey the McCormack guests from the house to the water level for skating parties next winter and for bathing parties during the summer.

FIRE THREATENS BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—Fire which broke out at 3:50 in the great wood and lumber yards of the Batchelder company in South Boston, had gained headway under a stiff breeze and at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon was threatening to be one of the worst fires in many years. The entire fire department is on the scene.

12 YEAR OLD BOY HOLDS UP BURGLAR

WILLIE KESSLER

CHICAGO, Ill.—"Nix, I ain't no hero. Cut out that stuff. Get away will you?"

Willie Kessler, 12 years old who put to flight a bold bad burglar from his mother's flat at 817 George street is being idolized by his schoolmates. The teachers made him stay after school and tell the children all about it. Then they call him "hero" and the girls tried to hug him.

Wednesday at noon he went back home for a book he had forgotten. He heard a noise as he was going upstairs.. Entering through the back way he peered cautiously in the parlor. A man with false whiskers and a pair of weighing scales in his pocket was packing a big bag with the household silverware and valuables.

Willie reached for his toy water pistol and jumped in at the burglar so suddenly that the man nearly collapsed in a faint.

"You little son of a gun!" he hissed. Then he gave a jump over the stair baluster and "beat it."

CITY FLIRTLESS SAYS POLICE HEAD

No Need of a "Flirt Cop" Here, Because Mashing Has Been Stamped Out

That the appointment of a "flirt cop" in La Crosse would be a needless waste of money of the taxpayers is the belief of Chief of Police John B. Webber, according to a statement made by him yesterday during a discussion of the new plan now being tried out by Denver and Los Angeles.

In Denver the police force has been enriched by the addition of an Adonis-like young man, whose only duty is to loiter along the streets and bring in the naughty young maidens who attempt to flirt with him to "see the chief." The same plan has been pursued in Los Angeles, only there the "flirt cop" is a woman, whose duty is to entrap the unwary of the sterner sex.

Flirting Here? Mercy! No!

Chief Webber's contention is that there are no flirts of either sex in the city. He also claims that there is a pronounced lack of the professional street walkers who infest the larger cities. Three years ago the chief yesterday declared, there were several of these questionable characters in La Crosse. Three of them are now doing time in Waupun and the rest were scared out. Since then, claims the chief, La Crosse has been free from the flirting evil.

Young Ones Out

"Of course," the chief added, "there are lots of young people of both sexes on the street at night. You can't expect them to stay indoors on a nice evening. But there are no atempts to mash. Young people that know each other speak when they meet on the street, but here is no need for a 'flirt cop.'"

GOULD ESCAPES WITH FINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Although making it clear he did not approve of the plea, Judge Hough let Frank J. Gould off with a fine of $1,000 when the millioiaire pleaded nolle contendere today to the indictment charging him with participation in the steel wire pools in violation of the Sherman law. Judge Hough accepted the plea, he explained, because so many of the other indicted men had escaped on similar pleas when arraigned before Judge Archbald, during the summer vacation season, when Hough was away.

HANSON FOUND INSANE

John Hanson, alias John Masterson, alias John Flannigan, who was arrested Saturday on the charge of larceny, was found insane upon examination late yesterday afternoon and committed to the asylum at Mendota.

DOGSKIN JOHNSON UP FOR MURDER

Man Accused of Killing Annie Lemberger Feigns Insanity in Madison Jail

SET TRIAL FOR SEPTEMBER 15

Burns Detectives Say Hitherto Unsuspected Person Will Be Arrested for Crime

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—John A. Johnson, arrested last night for the murder of Annie Lemberger, was brought into court this morning for preliminary examination. Judge Donovan held him in bonds of $10,000 which he was unable to furnish. The case was continued until September 25. Johnson, it was learned, assaulted an eight year old girl at Brownsville in this state and was later committed to the Mendota asylum here. The police say that Johnson is feigning insanity in his cell. Although he has never been a religious man he is occupied most of the time in reading a bible.

That arrests which would solve the mystery surrounding the atrocious kidnaping, alleged assault and murder, would be made today, was asserted by operatives of the Burns detective agency working on the case.

The guilty person is one hitherto unsuspected, according to the announcement. In conjunction with this action it was said detectives would bring to light the undershirt and nightdress worn by the child when kidnaped from her bed in the humble home but missing when the body was found four days later in Lake Monona.

KING OF SWINDLERS ANXIOUS FOR WIFE

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—S. A. Potter, waiting arraignment on indictments charging hm with using the mails to defraud, and said by the federal operatives who arrested him to be the king of confidence men, was smiling today n his cell. He seems little disturbed by his arrest.

In the meantime the officers are seeking Edward Starkaloff, alleged accomplice of Potter, and who, according to the authorities, s somewhere in Chicago. Mrs. Potter has disappeared and officers believe she warned Starkaloff and gave him a chance to disappear.

Potter's one anxiety at the time of his arrest was to keep the story from his wife. He asked the officers not to tell her why he was wanted, saying she thought he was a retired businessman.

He is said to have made $1,500,000 by his varous schemes.

IOWA GIRL IS SLAIN?

FOUND DEAD UNDER FENCE BY BROTHER AND NEIGHBOR; RIFLE IN HAND; MURDER SUSPECTED

DEXTER, Iowa, Sept. 13.—Found dead under a barbed wire fence three quarters of a mile from her home, clutching her unexploded rifle in her right hand and a few hickory nuts in her left, Miss Katherine Hey, 21 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hey, living on a farm two miles north of Dexter, is believed to have been murdered late yesterday.

The discovery of the girl's dead body was made by Walter Hey, a brother, and Walter Gant, a neighbor. An examination revealed that the bullet had passed through the heart, causing almost instant death.

Miss Hey went hunting and when she did not return her parents and neighbors started a search which resulted in the finding of the body.

FARMER BITTEN BY COW

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Bert Rosendale of Union Grove, one of the most prominent farmers in Racine county, found one of his cows apparently choking last Sunday and stuck his hand into its mouth to ascertain the cause. Just then the animal's jaws closed spasmodically and the arm was lacerated. The next day it swelled up whereupon the cow was killed and its head sent to Madison for analysis as it was feared that the animal might have been bitten by a rabid dog. The farmer went along to undergo pasteur treatment if necessary.

STORM REGION CUT OFF

CORINTO, Nicaragua, Sept. 13.—Though communication with the hurricane swept region on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua is still almost completely tied up, meager reports filtering in today seem to confirm the worst fears of heavy loss of life and enormous property damage. Large numbers of people are shelterless and destitute.

RACINE GETS P. O. BANK

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Postmaster Pritchard was notified today that a postal savings bank would be opened in Racine on Oct. 14.

MAINE "DRYS" WIN ON LATE RETURNS

Officially Revised Count Gives Prohibitionists a Majority of 297 Out of 120,725

VOTE MAY BE RECOUNTED

Augusta Made Capital of State Forever; Greatest Political Fight in State's History

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Despite frantic calls today from anti-prohibitionists for an official recount and strenuous assertions on the part of many that irregularities in counting have favored the temperance workers in the greatest political fight in the history of the Pine Tree state, the more conservative of those who fought to repeal the constitutional prohibitory statute today acknowledge their defeat.

Officially revised returns made today by mail from virtually every point in Maine by election officials of those places, set the slim majority by which Maine remains a prohibition state at 297 out of a total vote of 120,725. This same prohibitory statute was put in Maine's constitution in 1884 by a majority of 54,988 votes.

Today's final figures giving prohibition a slim victory were a surprise even to the prohibitionists after yesterday's supposedly correct official figures, giving the wets a victory by from 500 to 1,500 majority. These differences, it was learned today, resulted from figures being misunderstood when sent over telephones.

From Governor Plaisted, who is attending the governor's conference at Spring Lake, N. J., the anti-prohibitionists received today the assurance that he will always fight to have the liquor question settled in the "only correct and proper way by local option." He said he was sorry that the repeal question was denied by the voters of Maine but believed that it will continue to remain an active issue in Maine politics until local option obtains.

On today's returns with 196 towns out of 521 still to be heard from, it is shown the other three question on forever making Augusta the state capital, increasing debt limit of cities of over 40,000 and direct primaries all carried. The vote on three questions was, capital, yes 48,295, no 30,419; debt limit, yes 34,413, no 31,922; direct primaries, yes 55,840, no 17,751.

OVER 600 MOROCCANS KILLED IN BATTLE

MADRID, Sept. 13—Between 600 and 700 Moroccans were killed in the Kert river engagement with the Spanish troops, according to today's latest advices to the war ministry from King Alfonso's military commander at Melilla. The Spanish losses were 18 killed, including a colonel, and 73 wounded.

MOB TARS GIRL

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 13.—F. B. Coburn, secretary of the state board of agriculture, started a subscription today to offer rewards and pay expenses of the attorney general in prosecuting the fifteen men and boys who tarred Miss Mary Chamberlain of Shady Bend recently. He will also start a subscription for a fund to prosecute members of the city conucil of Hunnewell, who snubbed the woman mayor there.

PERVERT ATTACKS LITTLE GIRL

A miscreant late this afternoon attempted to abuse the 4 year old daughter of Fred V. Smith, 508 North Ninth street.

The fellow enticed the child into a barn by giving her a penny. Mrs. Smith heard the little girl scream and rushed to her assistance. The man fled, jumping through a barn window. Mrs. Smith saw him and can give a good description.

The police have been notified.

GOVERNORS HOLD CONFERENCE

Some of the leading speakers before the House of Governors, now in session at Spring Lake, N. J.

BEATTIE LAUGHS AT HIS COUSIN

Stage Aspirations Taken as Great Joke by Condemned Wife Slayer

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13.—Special Agent Luther Scherer, who had charge of the sleuth work for the prosecution in connection with the Beattie murder case, left here today for Chicago where he will interview the man who claims to have been an eye witness of the murder of Louise Beattie. Scherer says that if he finds the man's story true, he proposes to arrest him as an acessory after the fact.

Manager Craig of the Petersburg, Va., academy of music, today confirmed the report that Paul Beattie, cousin of the wife slayer, had signed a contract to appear at that play house tomorrow. Paul will do a monologue, he said.

Henry C. Beattie, Jr., the murderer, laughed heartily at Paul's stage aspirations and joked with his guards about the possibility of Paul and Beulah Binford appearing as costars.

STORM RUINS FRUIT

SEVERAL INJURED AND MUCH PROPERTY DAMAGED BY SMALL CYCLONE IN SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—Several persons were injured, and property damage amounting to $100,000 done here early today by a miniature cyclone which broke off and uprooted trees, toppled over chimneys, blew down telegraph wires and overturned outhouses. The wind reached a velociay of 62 miles an hour.

Twenty-five thousand dollars will be required to repair the statehouse. Nearly every window in the west wing of the structure was blown in and long strips of copper roofing were blown off the dome. Every arc light in the dome was smashed.

Street car service was temporarily suspended early today, the passage of cars being made impossible by the broken trolley wires and debris on the track. The telephone companies toll lines are almost hopelessly tangled.

Reports from outlying districts indicate that the fruit crop jn this section will be almost a total loss.

WATCHMAN DIES IN FIRE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—The body of George Miller, 48, night watchman, was taken from the ruins of the Cincinnati Veneer company's plant early today. Miller lost his life fighting single handed a blaze that caused $50,000 damages.

WOMAN HUNG BY CHAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A loose chain of a passing wagon wrapped itself around the neck of Mrs. Francis Ross with such force that he vocal cords may be permanently paralyzed.

PIN PRICK IS FATAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Poisoned by the prick of a pin which barely punctured the skin Joseph Hopkins died in the hospital after physicians had worked in vain over him for a month.

ETNA'S SUMMIT IS BOILING CALDRON

Italian Volcano's Eruption Hourly Increasing in Violence; Villagers Homeless

CATANIA, Sept. 13.—Mount Etna's entire summit is a boiling caldron today. Because of the smoke and pouring lava it is impossible to tell how many fissures have opened but there seem to be at least thirty, all belching flames.

The eruption is hourly increasing in violence. So far as known there has been no loss of life but few of the fugitives have been able to save anything from their homes and the residents of whole villages are shelterless and dependent on charity.

The railroad depots at Moio and Alcantara, which seemed certain to be engulfed were abandoned today.

AVIATOR VEDRINES FATALLY INJURED

HERICOURT, France, Sept. 13.—Aviator Vedrines fell from a tremendous height at the flying maneuvers here today and suffered injuries which it is feared will result fatally. Besides having two ribs broken he is believed to have other grave internal hurts. He is unconscious.

Vedrines gained his first experience as a mechanic for other birdmen, then acquired their art himself and made his initial appearance in an important aerial contest as a competitor in last summer's Paris-to-Madrid flight, which he won after a desperate struggle. Recently he was narrowly beaten by his countryman, Beaumont, in the England and Scotland race for the $50,000 prize offered by the London Daily Mail.

MYSTERY NEAR SOLUTION

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., Sept. 13.—Formal orders for a second inquest for further investigation of the manner in which pretty Myrtle Hawkins met her death in Osceola Lake, gave indication here today that the authorities are near a solution of the mystery.

All information was refused this afternoon but it was known at the inquest on Thursday the police will produce a prominent married man of the city and a second party as suspects. The theory of a criminal operation was practically established today.

FRANCE'S REPLY IS READY

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Foreign Minister de Selves submitted France's reply to Germany's Moroccan demands to President Fallieres at Rambouillet today, obtained the latter's approval to its terms and will probably send it to Berlin tomorrow. The message, though its details have not yet been made public, is known to consist of a polite intimation that Germany asks more than France can possibly yield.

TAFT AND LORIMER TO TALK

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 13.—While President Taft is the center of a big political gathering here Sept. 22, Senator William Lorimer will speak at a round-up arranged by his followers in connection with a horse show at Elmwood, this county, according to an announcement today. Peoria county is a Deneen stronghold.

SHAKERS CONFESS MERCIFUL MURDER

Dying Woman Given Chloroform by Friends to Take Her Out of Misery

BEGS TO BE PUT OUT OF WAY

Accused Brethren Stand Firm in Belief that They Did Right; Out on Bail

KISSIMMEE, Fla., Sept. 13.—With calm resignation, two meek, gentle shakers today faced a charge of murder for, as they say, "relieving the racking agony of a dying sister with chloroform."

Sister Elizabeth Sears and Brother Egbert B. Gillette had no apologies to make for their deed. Calmly they told the authorities that when the wrenching pain of death by consumption attacked the disease ravaged form of Sister Sadie L. Marchant, they were unable to withhold the drug that gave her peace.

When the dying woman begged to be taken out of her misery, the defense says, her sympathetic friends administered the chloroform, stilled the patient and allowed the spirit to pass from her body, quietly, painlessly.

Believe it Was Right

"Before God and man I believe that we did exactly right," declared Brother Gillette today, and the soft voiced Shaker woman beside him, without a tremor of agitation echoed the belief.

Never before have the members of the little Shaker community at Ashton appeared in court. Regarded as the personification of quiet, peaceful righteousness, they have the universal respect of their neighbors.

Judge G. F. Parker recognized their standing when the couple after confessing their part in the death of their friend were arraigned. He took the unprecedented action of admitting them to bail, Brother Gillete in $5,000 and Sister Elizabeth in $2,000. Public sentiment is strongly in favor of the Shakers.

The e ntire Shaker colony, standing firm behind their accused brethren, realized the necessity of the couple who were led forth from Kissimmee jail.

Wanted to Die in Peace

Surrounded by his faithful brethren, Brother Gillette defended his action with quiet certainty.

"Sister Sadie had always wanted to die in peace, without pain," he said. "On Aug. 20, the climax came. One of her lungs had been totally destroyed by consumption. Hemorrhage had begun, and we knew she could not live. That night she was in awful agony and time and again she begged us to kill her. 'I am at peace with God and with all on earth,' she said, 'and I am ready to go.'

"I tried to relieve her with opiates but she could not keep them on her stomach. We worked over her all day Monday and until noon Tuesday. She steadily grew worse. About noon I went to St. Cloud and got two ounces of chloroform. I gave it to her on a cloth and she slept peacefully. I went back to St. Cloud for more chloroform, and when the effect of the first dose passed away I gave her more. She passed out quietly, peacefully just at dusk.

"My conscience is clear. Every tome I gave her chloroform I asked her if she did not want to wait and try to fight, but she begged me to give her the drug. She wanted us to do as we did."

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Showers and thunderstorms tonight or Thursday; warmer tonight.

For Wisconsin: Unsettled weather with showers and thunderstorms tonight or Thursday; warmer tonight.

For Minnesota: Unsettled weather with showers tonight or Thursday; warmer south and west portions tonight.

Iowa: Unsettled weather with showers and thunderstorms tonight or Thursday; warmer east portion tonight.

Weather Notes

The high pressure area has moved from this section to the east lake region and the temperature has fallen from the central Mississippi valley to the New England states. Another high is moving in on the north Pacific coast while an area of low pressure covers the rocky mountain region and plains states. Local showers have occurred from the north Pacific coast to the lake region and in the central Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys and it is raining this morning in Montana and southern Iowa. The temperature has risen from Montana to Wisconsin and fallen west of the Rocky mountains. The easterly movement of the low pressure area will likely cause showers and thunderstorms in this section tonight or Thursday with higher temperature tonight.

New Way to Make Apple Dumplings

Served With Hard Sauce or Cream and Sugar

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Here is a new way to make apple dumplings that will surely please every housewife, for it is not necessary to have whole apples, and the juice cannot run out and burn as with apple dumplings where the apple is placed in the center and the dough turned up around it. The biscuit part forms a crispy shell that holds the apples and juice.

K C Apple Dumplings

One and one-half cups sifted flour; ½ teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ¼ cup shortening; about ½ cup milk; apples.

Fill the cups of a buttered muffin pan with pared and sliced apples, sprinkle with salt and turn two or three tablespoonfuls of water into each cup. Sift together, three times, the flour, salt and baking powder; work in the shortening, and mix to a soft dough with the milk. Drop the dough from a spoon with the apples in the cups, giving it a smooth exterior. Let bake about twenty-five minutes. Invert the pan on a large serving-dish. Put a spoonful of hard sauce above the apple in each dumpling and finish with a grating of nutmeg.

This is only one of the many new, delicious and appetizing recipes contained in the K C Cook's Book, which may be obtained free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. Co., Chicago. Be sure to get the 25-cent size—smaller cans do not contain Cook's Book certificates.

NORTHWEST NEWS

FLOUR DOWN, WHEAT UP

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—The anomaly of a reduction in flour prices while the wheat market is rising is now before the northwest trade. Flour is now quoted at $4.50 per barrel, the cheapest opening price for four years.

Price cutting between millers of this city and Puget Sound, influenced, it is said, by the position of several millers who have not yet bought much wheat, is responsible for the situation.

GOTCH BECOMES KNIGHT

FORT DODGE, Iowa, Sept. 13.—Frank Gotch was escorted by local Masons to a moving picture show last night to witness his own recent match in Chicago. This event followed his initiation into the Red Cross degree of Knights Templar.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 13.—Delos H. Smalley, 59 years old, for twenty-two years general agent for Ginn & Co., school book publishers, and one of the best known school book men in the state, was found dead at his home on the lake shore road east of this city on Tuesday.

WISCONSIN NEWS

ATTACK INCOME TAX

MILWAUKEE PAVING CONTRACTORS AND OTHER INTERESTS WOULD HAVE LAW DECLARED VOID

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13. — The constitutionality of the new law providing for the taxation of incomes is attacked in a suit brought on Monday by Arthur Winding and Fred W. Gezelschap, paving contractors of Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Trust company of Milwaukee and Elwin F. Brown of Iron Mountain, Mich., for an injunction to restrain the secretary of state, state treasurer and members of the state tax commission from aking any acion under it. Attorneys Flanders, Bottom, Fawsett and Bottom, and Attorneys Van Dyke, Rosecrantz, Shaw and Van Dyke, all of Milwaukee, represent the plaintiffs.

PREPARE INSANITY TEST

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 13.—It developed in the examination of Joseph Hecht, who applied to Judge Karel yesterday for release from the county insane asylum that a number of insane patients at the asylum have conducted a school to post themselves on technical questions and insanity theories.

Dr. Moses J. White, superintendent of the asylum, stated that several inmates had met and discussed the various questions which might be asked by alienists at an examination. The men would question each other, acting in the capacity of patient and alienist, alternately. Knowing fairly well from previous examinations what the line of questioning would be they schooled themselves on the answers.

RIPON COLLEGE OPENS

RIPON, Wis., Sept. 13.—Ripon college opens today with a prospective enrollment equal to that of the last three years. There was a heavy influx of students yesterday and today.

There are several new faces on the faculty this year. Prof. E. R. Nichols of Ottawa university takes the chair of English, Prof. A. L. Barton will have charge of the history department. H. F. Hancox of Harvard will be assistant to Dean Frank Morton Erickson in the classics department.

Arthur C. Hoffman, new director of athletics, has been on the ground for several days.

EVERY TOWN HAS PLACE FOR TAFT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—When President Taft returns from his anticipated tour of the west this fall, he will doubtless have visited more "ideal sites for a summer home" than he can count on the fingers of both his own and "Archie" Butt's two hands, for the west has made great plans for convincing the chief executive of the nation that he should spend the hot weather months in that part of the country.

The little town of Wayzata on Lake Minnetonka, Minn., which started the recent "summer capital" flurry that became nation wide almost over night, is still much in earnest over the matter, and when Mr. Taft reaches Minneapolis on his "big swing" a principal feature of the presidential entertainment program in that city is a trip across Lake Minnetonka to Wayzata, the home of Bald Hill, which it is hoped some day will be crowned with a miniature White house.

The state of Washington, too, is understood to have the cream of its real estate "sharks" in readiness for convincing Mr. Taft that there is no place like home if home is in that state. Spokane has two sites to offer the president, Seattle, Tacoma and Everett have each picked out choice tracts of land overlooking Puget sound, and other cities of the state, well equipped with press agents, are expected to enter the race.

You can tell a man with a family of children by how nervous he gets when he drops a coin on the floor even in his office.

ALGOMA BANK INCORPORATED

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—Commissioner of Banking A. T. Kuoit approved the articles of incorporation of the Citizens bank of Algoma, capital $50,000. The incorporators are P. M. White, Henry Grimm, M. W. Perry and others.

An amendment to the articles of the State Bank of East Troy, increasing its capital stock from $15,000 to $30,000, was also approved.

MANY STUDENTS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The enrollment at the high school this semester is the largest in the history of the school, there being 584 students enrolled at the institution at present. This number is far ahead of previous records, it even surpassing the attendance figures for the spring term last year, and that term is generally the best for large enrollments.

Another record for attendance is being made by the freshmen, which class has a total of 140 included in the roll. This is the largest first year class which has ever been at the high school, and from present indications all intend to stay the entire year at least.

STAR H. S. END OFF TO COLLEGE

Robert G. Ray, star right end on the high school football team for the last three seasons, who was picked for an end position on the All State team in 1909 and 1910, in addition to which he was honored by being named captain of the honorary state eleven last fall, left last night for Williamstown, Mass., where he will attend Williams college. "Bob" intends to try out for the Williams football team, which is considered one of the strong aggregations in the east. In his graduation, Ray left a vacancy at the extremity of the high school line which will be hard to fill.

REV. R. ANDERSEN BACK FROM TRIP

After a vacation extending over a period of nearly three months, Rev. R. Andersen, pastor of the St. Paul's Norwegian Lutheran church, returned at noon today to resume his duties. He has been visiting cities through the west and on the Pacific coast.

NURSES FELLOW PRISONER

MARINETTE, Wis., Sept. 13.—An alleged murderer acting as nurse for an alleged train wrecker, is the unusual scene to be witnessed at the Marinette jail. Charles F. Raue, held for trial on the charge of murdering Mrs. Anna Marlow, is the nurse and Edward Martin, a former city alderman charged with wrecking a Milwaukee passenger train maliciously, is the patient. Martin is suffering from a throat affliction. The two are occupying the same cage at the jail.

BOARD TO DECIDE DISPUTED NAMES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Within a few weeks the United States Geographic Board, composed of officials in various departments of the government, will hold its semi-annual meeting to determine upon the correct names of various geographical points where differences of opinion existed. The board is assisted in its work by various subsidiary boards located in different parts of the United States and its possessions which forward to the Washington headquarters all the data they can obtain as to the names in dispute. One of the most important subsidiary boards is that maintained in the Philippines, where more than the ordinary confusions as to proper names exists. It is largely with the data now enroute from the islands that the coming meeting will act upon.

Last spring the board adopted a large number of names which it had decided should be applied to various streams, lakes and portages along the Canadian border, from Lake of the Woods, in Minnesota, eastward. These names were decided upon as the result of meetings held in conjunction with a similar board of Canada. However, there are still a few of these names which have not been acted upon and these will be considered at the board's next meeting.

Another matter of dispute to be settled is the proper name of a range of mountains in Eastern Oregon midway between the Cascades and the Rockies. The range is now known as Powder River Range, Wallowa Range and Cornucopia Mountains. A great amount of data on this dispute has been received and is now awaiting final consideration.

TOMAH, WIS.

The attendance of the Indian school is steadily increasing. Fifty pupils from a reservation at Oneida near Green Bay have arrived. The school starts Monday and there promises to be a record breaking attendance. More pupils will come later in the week. Mary Belbeck, a former pupil of the Indian school, has entered the Carlisle school. A football team will be organized after school starts. The superintendent, L. M. Compton, has charge of the enrollment.

The Boys' club had its first business meeting Tuesday. Electing Clyde Ziebell secretary. The club will begin and arrange for rooms. They have over one hundred and fifty dollars in a bank and expect to use this money in furnishing the rooms. The club has over fifty members and the president, James Moran, states that there will be a steady increase as soon as the club gets started.

The Girls' Glee club of the Tomah high school, held a meeting Monday evening. The club has at present thirty members and under the direction of Miss Julia Harvey should be a success.

Peter Bolavois, a Greek, who with a companion, was run over by a special train near Sparta, on Monday night, died at the Tomah hospital early Tuesday morning. The remains will be taken to Sparta for burial.

The Tomah Concert band of thirty pieces left Tuesday night for the State fair which is being held in Milwaukee this week. The full quota of thirty musicians boarded number 56 at twelve-thirty, bound for Milwaukee. Those in high school will make up their back work next week.

New lockers have been placed in the basement of the high school for the purpose of keeping the players' football suits. They were installed by the Crosset Construction company of this city.

While practicing with the high school football team, Floyd McGinnis, the star tackle sustained a bad cut on his head. Medical assistance was at once summoned and the wound was dressed. He will be out of the game for about one week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Christman are attending the State fair.

Mrh. Chris Maxwell entertained the Pythian Sisters Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. W. A. Henke of La Crosse spent Tuesday in this city.

The coronation pictures were exhibited at the Unique theatre Monday.

C. R. Jones of Sparta spent Sunday in this city.

BURNS SOFT COAL

Without Smoke or Soot. A strong statement to make for any stove but one that is easily proven with The 20th CENTURY LAUREL HEATER—the pioneer soft coal burning stove.

The great objection against the burning of soft coal has been the black sooty smoke. This heater does not produce black sooty smoke and as soft coal gives as much heat as hard coal, it is the equal of a base burner in heat comfort and cleanliness.

Think of what you save on coal bills by using soft coal, Lignite or slack.

Come in and let us explain how the coal is consumed without giving off smoke. Let us show you the patented device for adding new fuel to the fire, that prevents soot or dirt from escaping into the room; how the mica in the door is kept clean and bright.

The illustration gives you some impression of the beauty of this wonderful heater. Wearing or heating qualities and strength have not been omitted at the expense of beauty in this heater—

FOR FISH PROTECTION

The Tribune has decided to proceed immediately to the attempt to organize the river cities against the inroads upon river fishing by the fisheries commissions of Wisconsin, Minnesota and the federal government.

The Tribune suggested this step, and it found immediate favor with the people of Wabasha, whose original association was the inspiration of the thought that all the cities should organize and that the various organizations should then establish a central body to act in unison.

The first plan conceived for action was the arrest of employes of either the states or the United States, wherever they were found violating the law. The objection to this was that it would punish the least of the offenders, without reaching those higher up, and that it might not stop the practice.

It was next suggested that a grand jury be called. This was advised on the ground that it would permit the threshing out of all the evidence, whereas the trial of individual offenders would limit the testimony to that pertinent to the particular instance or offense charged. But the grand jury idea was dropped because of the fact that, while its scope would be broad enough to take in all the evidence, the law forbids such evidence to be made public. Thus the main purpose of the grand jury investigation—to expose the facts—would be lost.

The whole situation has been threshed out, and it simmers down to organization as the one effectual step by which the seining of our minnows can be prevented.

The Tribune has begun correspondence looking to the organization of city associations, and progress made will be reported from time to time.

HOBBLED WOMANHOOD

A Paris news item of interest is that which proclaims that women's skirts are to be narrower than ever this year.

One is put to it to figure how this can be, unless indeed we presume that they are not to be actually worn, but to be carried flung over the arm, or perhaps wrapped in a fig leaf and lugged in the chatelaine. Anything you like, ladies—don't mind us men.

The Oshkosh Northwestern suggests that, as the dear things can't expect to even hobble in the new skirt, it be called the "wiggle skirt," because for one sheathed in one of them wiggling will be the only means of locomotion.

We are inclined to doubt that the "wiggle skirt" will ever come. We cannot conceive of women being particularly proud of themselves in the hobble skirt, nor should they accept the glances of men as admiration. Curiosity, and worse, prompts most of the staring when beauty parades her charms in a garment the insufficiency of which is emphasized by being tied at the bottom like an inverted laundry bag.

Women really owe civilization a greater degree of consideration in the matter of dress. They deplore the licentiousness of men, yet their own modern trend in dress is calculated to arouse the beast and please the devil. We seriously question the right of any woman dressed in the extreme of present day fashion to complain of attentions shown her, for be her behavior what it may, her garb creates the suspicion that attention is not unsolicited. She knows that those who peddle their favors employ similar raiment as their advertisement. At least, if accosted, she may be deemed to have been guilty of contributory negligence if she affects the habit of the adventuress.

La Crosse, like most of our western cities, is to be congratulated upon the fact that its women in the main have not blindly followed fashion to the grotesque extreme. A few who aspire to the distinction of being ultra fashionable, and the giddy girl class, indulge in the worst that style affords. As to these, we suggest that Alderman George Marvin amend his anti-mashing ordinance so as to exempt from the pain of its penalty the masher who "gets gay" with the hobbled tube skirt.

"WAR ON BUSINESS"

"Loose talk about a 'war on business,'" says World's Work, "does more harm than any war that is waged. If great combinations like the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company are punished for violations of the anti-trust law, what harm has that done to your business? Ask yourself if anybody is making war on you; and, when you hear any man talking loosely, ask him precisely what damage to his trade has been done by anybody?

"Such direct and wholly honest consideration by every man of his own position would very quickly dispel such fear as exists."

Followed Advice

The beauty editor of the Holton Signal was asked by a girl who wasn't of much account around the house what she should do to make her hands white. The beauty editor answered with wasted sarcasm that the best thing the young woman could do would be to soak her hands in dishwater three times a day. It never touched her. She went home and gravely asked her mother to save the dishwater after she got through.—Kansas City Star.

The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it:

William P. Delphenick, 1718 Badger street, La Crosse, Wis., says: "Since using Doan's Kidney Pills in 1907, I have had no further trouble from my kidneys or back. I feel justified in saying that my cure is a permanent one." (Statement given on October 8, 1910).

The endorsement referred to by Mr. Delphenick was given on October 10, 1908, and was as follows: "My back gave out three years ago and from morning until night I suffered from a steady ache across my kidneys. I could hardly do my work and was in bad shape when someone told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a supply at Erhart's drug store and it did not take them long to remove every symptom of my complaint."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Color Poem

(Newsuaper note: Helen ping is a new tint named in honor of Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president.)

Helen pink is a charming tint
Named for a charming maiden
Whose fair young face with Nature's pink
And white is sweetly laden.
No tint from all the rainbow hues
Is lovelier than this is
To touch with living, glowing light
The faces of our misses.
And gladly do we join with all
To sound its highest praises,
Because we know that Helen pink
Is not like Helen blazes.
—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Genuine Article

"I don't know about this picture, Bobby," said the visitor, as he ran over specimens of the youngster's camera work. "I am afraid a dog with a propeller instead of a tail is something of a fake."

"That ain't a propeller," said Bobby. "That's his tail. He kept waggin' it while his picture was being tookened."—Harper's Weekly.

Wrong Kind of Juice

When a young south side couple tried to start their automobile for a trip through Mill Creek park Monday evening they were greatly puzzled when the machine refused to make any signs of action.

"What's the matter with the thing?" cried the husband, "I just filled it with gasoline last night."

"That's odd," replied the wife. "I noticed the can untouched in the cellar a few minutes ago."

"In the cellar," retorted the husband; "why I got this in the kitchen."

"No wonder the machine will not run," hysterically laughed the young woman, "you have filled the car with maple syrup."—Youngstown Telegram.

A Judge of Wine

George C. Boldt, hotel man, was talking in New York about wines.

"The average American is now a good judge of wine," said Mr. Boldt. "He is no longer fooled by elaborate and imposing labels. He has learned to appreciate a wine's bouquet, flavor and body.

"I heard, the other day, a mild-looking chap in a restaurant, who said:

"'I understand they've been having wine riots in France, waiter.'

"'Yes, sir; I believe so, sir,' the waiter answered.

"'Well, said the mild looking chap, 'the wine you've served me here would be enough to start a riot anywhere.'"—Washington Star.

Not Sure

"See here, Rastus," said the new arrival at the hotel, "do you mean to tell me that this egg is fresh?"

"It was when hit was laid, sur," replied the waiter.

"And when was that, pray?" demanded the guest.

"Ah dunno, Boss," replied Rastus. "Dis yere is mah first season at diss yere hotel, sur."—Harper's Weekly.

An Over-Zealous Reformer

It is well known that Col. David H. Lane does not believe in political reform and he is responsible for the story of a reformer, who, as soon as he was seated in office, having been elected by the voice of the people, began to look about to economize. He observed a man coming into the office and taking off his coat. It was then noon.

"My man," said the reformer, summoning the man before him, "what time do you usually get here."

"Me? Oh, I generally stroll in Tuesdays and Fridays, and maybe one other day long 'bout this time, maybe a little later," said the fallow, indifferently.

"Stroll in, eh? About two days a week, eh? Well, this will stop right here," said the reformer stamping his feet and showing great indignation. "What's your name and what do you do?"

"Me? Oh, I'm the man that winds the clocks in the building," came the reply.—Philadelphia Times.

Untimely Interruption

Prof. McGoozle was deeply absorbed in the effort to take the tangle out of a knotty point in metaphysics.

"Lysander," said his wife, looking up from the paper she had been reading, "what does it cost to have one's name changed?"

"It never cost you anything to have yours changed, Alvira," irritably answered the professor. "I paid all the expenses."

The worm turned at last.

"That was no more than yau should have done," she snapped, "considering that I changed my name from Vanderpool to McGoozle."—Chicago Tribune.

Had Reason to Think So

In the spring of '89 a reporter for The Traveler, Opie Reed's paper, died. The day after the funeral a visitor to the office found the editor and his staff talking about their late associate.

"It has been a sad loss, friends," the visitor said, "a sad loss indeed." He sighed and looked about the room. "Ah, I am pleased to see," he went on, "that you commemorate the melancholy event by hanging up crape."

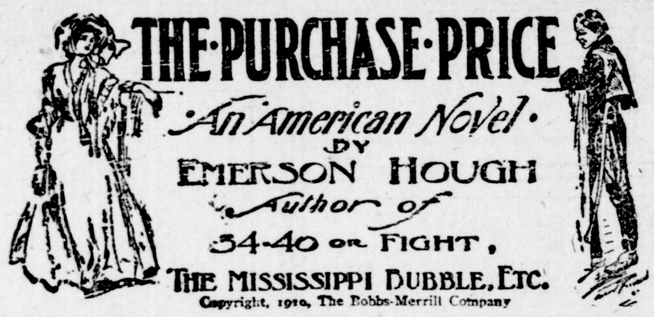

Opie Reed frowned. "Crape?" he said. "Where do you see any crape?"

"Over there," said the visitor, pointing.

"Crape be durned!" said Reed. "That isn't crape. It's the office towel."—Lippincott's.

A man might just as well be in love with a girl as try to convince her he isn't.

Good intentions are terribly slow beginners.

"Yes; and you know that noble patriot, I am told. Consider of what aid you might be to me. You speak his tongue, you know his history, you could supply me at once with information—Come, 'tis no idle errand. And, perhaps—you will forgive me, since we both know how cruel is such gossip as this that has wronged you—the tongue of gossip wags the least when the eye of gossip has seen least. This is a most natural and proper—indeed, most convincing opportunity."

"That is precisely what I pondered, Sir." She nodded gravely.

"And let me add this," ht continued; "every day you are here in Washington the tongue of rumor wags tht more. Listen to me! Leave this place. Let gossip quiet down. It has been cruel with you; yet the public soon forgets. To remain and appear in public would freshen gossip anew. Come, it is an adventure! I swear it does not lack its appeal to me! Ah, would only that I were younger, and that it were less seemly and sedate! Dear lady, I offer you my apology for coming as I have, but large plans work rapidly at times, and there is little time to wait. Now there is but one word I can say; that you have courage and decision, I know."

He had risen, and unconsciously tht young woman also had risen — balancing, measuring, watching, warding, in this contest, all too unequal. Suddenly, with a swift and most charming smile she approached him a half step and held out her hand.

"You are a great man, Sir. Your country has found you great. I have always found the greatest men the simplest and most frank. Therefore I know you will tell me—you will satisfy any doubt I may feel—If I should ask question, you would not condemn me as presuming?"

"Certainly not. Upon the contrary, my dear Countess, I should fetl flattered."

She looked at him for an instant, then came up to the side of the table beyond which he had taken his seat. Leaning her chin upon her hand, her elbow upon the table, in a sudden posture of encounter, she asked him a question whose answer took him swiftly far back into his own past, into another and forgotten day.

"Did you ever hear of Mr. John Parish, Sir?" she demanded.

The suave countenance before her was at first blank, then curious, then intent. His mind was striving to summon up, from all its many images, this one which was required. It was a brain which rarely forgot, even though years had passed; and had it been able to forget, so much had been the better for the plans of the gentleman from Kentucky, and for the success of his proposed European mission.

At last, slowly, a faint flush passed over the face she was regarding so intently. "Yes, I remember him very well," he replied. "He has not for very many years been in this country. He died abroad, some years since. I presume you mean Mr. Parish of New York—he is the only one I recall of that name at least. Yes; I knew such a man."

"That was very long ago?"

"It was when I was much younger, my dear Countess."

"You knew him very well, then?"

"I may say that I did, Madam."

"And you'll tell me; then—tell me, was it true that once, as a wild rumor that I have heard—that once you two played at cards—"

"Was that a crime?" he smiled.

"But with him, at cards with him—one day—a certain winter day years ago, when you both were younger—when the train was snowbound in the North? And you played then, for what? What were the stakes then, in that particular game with Mr. John Parish? Do you chance to recall?"

"Madam, you credit me with frankness. I will not claim even so much. But since you have heard a rumor that died out long years ago—which was denied—which even now I might better deny—since, in fact you know the truth—why should I deny the truth?"

"Then you two played a game, at cards—for a woman? And Mr. Parish won? Was it not true?"

A new and different expression passed over the face of the gentleman before her. Her chin still rested in her hand, her other arm, long, round, white, lay out upon the table before him. He could see straight into her wide eyes, see the heave of her throat now under its shining circlet, see the color of her cheek, feel the tenseness of all her mind and body as she questioned him about his long forgotten past.

"Why do you ask me this?" he demanded at last. "What has that to do with us? That was long ago. It is dead, it is forgotten. Why rake up the folly of a deed of youth and recklessness, long years dead and gone? Why, the other man, and the woman herself, are dead and gone now, both of them. Then, why?"

"I will tell you why. That happened once in my own experience."

"Impossible!"

"Yes, impossible. It should have been impossible among men at this day of the world. But it happened. I also had the distinguished honor to be the stake in some such game, and that because—indirectly because I had won the enmity, the suspicions at least—well, we will say, of persons high in authority in this land."

"But, my dear young lady, the conditions can not have been the same. Assuredly the result was not the same!"

"By whose credit, then? Who thinks of a woman? Who is there whose hand is not raised against her? Each member of her own sex is her enemy. Each member of the opposite stx is her foe. One breath, one suspicion, and she becomes fair game, even under the strictest code among men; and then, the man who did not dare would be despised because he would not dare. Her life is one long war against suspicion. It is one long war against selfishness, a continued defense against desire, gratification. She is, even today, valued as chattel—under all the laws and conventions built about her runs the chattel idea. She is a convenience. Is that all?"

"My dear lady, it is not for me to enter into discussion of subjects so abtruse, so far removed at least from my proper trend of thought—our proper trend of thought, if you please. I must admit that act of folly, yes. But I must also end the matter there."

STRIKE QUESTION STILL UNSETTLED

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The executive committee of the system federation of shop employes of the Illinois Central railroad held a conference today to consider the strike situation.

Reports from some of the locals, who informally voted on the question Sunday, were received, but no information as to the result was made public. The federation officers are waiting to hear from Davenport, Iowa, where the full executive commttee is taking up further the questin of votng a strike benefit.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine that Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Satisfies

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Three sizes, 50c., 25c., and 10c Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. O. T. Erhart.

HEALTH TALK No. 6

Why is disease so common and perfect health so rare? Why do we find so many specimens of perfect health among the animals, while, to a great extent, it is lacking in mankind? All forms of animal life live about eight times their period of maturity except man, who drops into his grave (while yet in his youth) at the average age of forty,

There is something radically wrong in this set of conditions. Do you want to know why this is the case?

We do not give enough thought to the quality of our food, and to what kind of material will bring mankind to the highest state of mental, physical development.

About one-third of our diet is composed of wheat in the form of bread, pastry, etc.

It is, therefore, very logical that we should devote at least a little thought to what goes to make up such a large portion of our food.

If our food is deficient in any nutrient, our growth will be deficient in the same respect. If the flour that you use has been improperly milled, your bread will lack those properties which are essential to building up the worn out tissues of the body.

What you want for health is a flour that is made from the wheat just as it was grown by nature, then you are sure of having bread that will meet all the requirements of the body.

MARVEL Flour is the one to ask for to get these results.

MARVEL Flour is for sale by all first-class grocers.

Yours for better bread,

THE HEALTH MAN.

GOVERNMENT TO OUST OLD PRIEST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — One of the incidental reasons for Secretary of the Interior Fisher's present trip to Alaska is to out Father Duncan from his stronghold on Methlakahtla Island.

Father Duncan is a priest who has been in Alaska ever since man can remember and during most of that time has been nominal chief of the Mathlakahtla Indians, on the island, which was set aside for their use by the governent.

Under Father Duncan's guiding hands, the Mathlakahtla Indians have built up a community of more than ordinary prosperity, possessing as it does, a cannery, a saw mill and various other industries of considerable size. Father Duncan, however, has become a little too independent to suit Uncle Sam, and for this reason there has been an effort on foot for a long while to dislodge him.

Agents, commissioners and all sorts of representives of the government have been dispatched to the island to humor him into letting loose, but to no avail. However, he has finally agreed to treat with the government through an attorney whom he had recently retained, and Secretary Fisher and his party will stop at Methlakahtla to attempt to reach an agreement with the old priest whereby he will turn his industries over to the government.

SIXTY QUALIFY IN SECOND ROUND

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—A record gallery watched the second qualifying round of the national amateur golf championships on Apawamis links today. Out of sixty-four players, sixty qualifed by makng the round under 83 strokes. For the last four places ten men were today in the play off. Sherman, son of the vice president, Corcoran, of Baltimore, Lyons, former Canadian champion, and L. M. Gould of New York won the coveted place.

SIAMESE BELLES TO CHEW GUM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Siamese belles are about to adopt the attractive American habit of chewing gum, says Consul General Hansen, who represents the United States at Bangkok, Siam,

Betel chewing has been universal among the Siamese, especially among womankind. Impressed by the higher culture of western civilization the dames and the men are to a considerable extent giving up the betel cuds. As a substitute many others, who are bound to continue the gleaning that comes from a rythmic movement of the jaws, are adopting American gum.

Hensen figures that in time chewing gum will be a special feature in the American exports to Siam.

Since ancient times the chief diversion of the worshipers of the white elephant, in the line of chewing, has been the mastication of a wad composed of the green leaf of the betel pepper, smeared with red lime, together with tobacco, catechu and the areca nut. So great has been the extent of the habit that Siam has been unable to produce enough betel nut and, to supply the deficiency, imported over 5,00,000 pounds, valued at $97,724, from India, Singapore and Java.

CHUTE QUESTION TO BE SETTLED

That the old Hammond Chute question, the chief topic of discussion for years at the Progressive league, will come up for definite action this evening at the monthly meeting of the league, is the statement of many of the members of the club, as expressed this morning.

At the last meeting a committee was appointed to investigate into the affair, and report on the advisability of closing the chute, which draws water out of the Black river into the Mississippi and makes the former stream unnavigable. It is said that this report will be made at tonight's meeting.

The league will also take up the matter of changing the runs of Milwaukee road conductors, so that they can start and finish their runs in La Crosse. It is said that the present circumstances, in which the majority of the runs start in the Twin Cities are causing the exodus of a number of railroaders and their families from the city.

ALPHALA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Alphala club met at the home of Miss Alene Foster, 1603 Charles street, this being the first meeting. Officers were elected for the coming year. The officers elected were as follows: President, Stella Sheely; vice president, Eunice Freeman; secretary, Vista Higbee; corresponding secretary, Anadell Herrington; treasurer, Allie Pope. Arrangements were made for a supper to be held on Friday, Sept. 22. A delicious lunch was served and all reported an enjoyable evening.

LASSO CARRIES DEATH

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Attempting to lasso a playmate with a piece of wire in a "wild west" game, the wire struck an electric power feed main and Charles Ainsworth, aged 9, was electrocuted.

MILWAUKEE ROAD REVENUE FALLS

Total Net Receipts of the Road Are Over Two Millions Less Than Last Year

The annual report of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, showing a decrease in net operating receipts of $2,133,620.49, was sent to the stockholders by Secretary E. W. Adams yesterday. The total net decrease is $2,323,469.40.

The gross operating revenue exceeded that of last year, but the report indicates that the expenses of operation were higher without corresponding increase in rates. Hence the decreased net revenue. A great increase in the cost of labor was the chief cause of the added cost of operation.

The reports of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railway company and the Tacoma Eastern railway company, which form the western extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, also were submitted to the stockholders.

Receipts and Expenditures

The operations on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company show the following results:

Operating revenues	$64,975,995.00
Operating expenses	47,053,718.61
Net operatingrevenue	$17,922,726.39
Net revenue—outside operations	195,668.35
Total net revenue	$18,117,944.74
Taxes accrued	2,662,700.20
Operating income	$15,455,244.54
Dividends on stocks owned	$5,065,115.00
Interest on funded debt owned	4,730,977.86
Interest on other securities, on loans and accounts	1,628,436.10
Miscellaneous credits	455,257.78
	11,879,786.74
Gross corporate income	$27,335,031.28
Interest accrued on funded debt	$8,372,348.50
Hire of equipment and other debit items	2,604,368.53
	10,976,717
Net corporate income	$16,358,314.25

The capital stock of the company is $232,623,100 divided about equally into preferred and common stock. The oustanding bonded debt of the company aggregates $192,860,654.66 an increase of $13,396,154.66. No addition capital stock has been issued.

CALL OF WILD NO LONGER CALLS

Minnesota University Professor Returns from Explorations with Wonderful Tales

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 13.—Having pressed 800 miles through a section of British Columbia that had never known the tread of white man, experiencing all the privations of travel through perilous woods and streams, where there was no night except three hours of dusk, Professor A. W. Johnston, of the department of geology at the university of Minnesota, has returned to his work at the university today. Professor Johnston related a wonderful tale of the country, but said he would not make the trip again for all the gold in the world.

Endless tramping over mountains, exposures to pestiferous insects, hot days and cold nights that were not dark, ten days of sustenance on bear meat captured on the way, an attack by a cinnamon bear which he finally killed with his knife, were incidents in the journey of Professor Johnston and his party, consisting of a cook, John C. Schmidt, and five Indian guides. They spent six weeks in the wild interior without seeing a soul.

Professor Johnston left Minneapolis May 17 for his journey to the north in the interests of science and also for a private concern that had retained him to inspect mineral possibilities of the country. He was also retained by the Canadian government to make a geological map of the unexplored region.

FRANKLIN CLUB TO DISCUSS TAFT

Senator Otto Bosshard will lead the affirmative tomorrow night against Paul T. Schultze in the Franklin club debate on the merits of President Taft's candidacy for reelection. The question as stated is: "Resolved, that progressive republicans should refuse to support President Taft in the event of his re-nomination." A hot debate is expected to take place.

NEGRO PLAN BLOCKED

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 12.—Fired by reports that Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, was able to acquire property here on which to build a negro village, the city council in a hastily called meeting today passed an ordinance of segregation which will effectually prevent consummation of his plans.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Fadded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair, and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

TO STIMULATE PUBLIC DEBATE

This Is Feature of Work of University Extension; Has Library on Timely Subjects

III. DEBATING AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION

Purpose

This department aims to arouse and stimulate among all classes of people an intelligent and active interest in important social and political questions. In the belief that there is no form of popular education that tends more essentially to the making of good citizens than study and discussion of live issues, this department collect and maintains a loan library of books and periodicals relating to questions of the day, available upon application, issues bulletins on special topics, and keeps in touch by correspondence or personal interview with civic leagues, town councils, library and school boards, farmers' and business men's clubs, high school and academy societies, and all similar organizations throughout the state.

Loan Material

Package Libraries—The collection of loan material for the use of individuals or organizations includes only package libraries on subjects of practical and timely interest—those great questions which are being weighed by the nation or state, as well as those of even closer appeal to the citizen, which relate to the municipal policies of his own community. Mounted clippings from newspapers, sections of periodicals, state and national publications, books, in short everything of value bearing upon questions of current interest, dealing fairly and comprehensively with both sides of the discussion, are accumulated by this department and placed at the disposal of those who will use them.

The bulletins, which are distributed free, formulate subjects for debate and give full list of reference on both affirmative and negative sides. Full information is given as to where and how this date may be obtained. Individuals who are seeker organizations planned for the general uplift of its members are invited to make use of this department.

Have Grave Garments Ready.

In an account of the death, at the age of one hundred and four, of Lucy Hickey at Gloucester there appeared the interesting item that she was buried in a shroud which she had made for herself many years ago. "This may look strange to most people," said a resident of the East side, "but not to the old-fashioned Jews. I am sure that if you go through any of the tenement houses in this part of the city you will find in the majority of homes the shrouds of all men and women who are married. It is an old custom to have the grave garments ready, and with some of the people it is considered a shame not to be properly provided in case of death. The garments are usually of fine texture and invariably 'hand sewed.'"

The Ordeal.

"I have called, sir, to see the photo of the lady with $25,000 who wants a husband."

"Can you keep your face straight?"

"Of course I can."

"Very well. We'll break you in first with the $5,000 applicants, and then gradually, as you grow stronger, we will work you up to the big prize. This way, please, and don't get frightened."

Expert Medical EXAMINATION AND CONSULTATION FREE

I want to talk to every sufferer. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit and are skeptical does not discourage me in the least; nearly all of my patients tell of this same experience. I am curing men and women every day and feel sure I can do the same for you. I especially solicit the stubborn, chronic, seemingly incurable cases. Persons who realize the seriousness and gravity of their condition, and will appreciate benefits conferred and the cure I give, come to me for free consultation. I will then explain how different, better and more curative are my methods of treatment than those possessed by others. My special training and long years of experience in treating all Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Pelvic and Special Diseases give me many advantages over the average physician.

I treat Rheumatism, Enlarged Veins, Fistula, Piles, Constipation, All Rectal Diseases, Weak and Unhealthy Kidneys, and Lingering Ailments.

I personally attend everyone who applies for treatment at my office, as I have no incompetent hired doctors to unskillfully treat my patients, and every man who engages my services gets the benefit of the efficiency that has marked my success in the past.

I have cured thousands, many of whom had been given up for lost. If your physical system has been impaired, if your vitality is assailed from overwork or worry, if you are tainted by disease in any form, you owe it to yourself to seek and obtain a restorative power at once.

DIAMOND DUST

Youth met age when old Cy Young and Christy Mathewson contributed mound honors yesterday and as usual youth won. With eight runs against old Cy, he retired in the third inning.

Matty himself was pulled out after he had won the game. The Giants need his arm and want to save it.

Three times Cy looked idly on while Giants made their complete circuit off his delivery. Five home runs were garnered by the high fellows in their two games.

A fine long slugging match resulted in a 11 to 6 victory for the Brooklynites over the Phillies. The Quakers used up four pitchers in a vain effort to stop the rubber planters.

So Jimmy McAleer is to quit the shadow of the capitol for the beans and brown bread bunch. Jimmy has put the seeds of money he has made with Washington into a half interest in the Red Sox.

Detroit led Cleveland 6 to 3 when the latter went in for the last of the ninth. Before merciful darkness shrouded the end of the thirteenth, Detroit had made three more, after the Naps had succeeded in tying it up.

Cobb was somewhat in the game. He made three hits, one a triple, stole three bases and assisted in a double play.

In a session of back to the baseball, the Cubs beat Cincinnati. Four large important errors, three of them by Catcher McLean, did the trick.

Bush league fielding cost Washington yesterday's contest with Boston. Bob Groom pitched a good game but he was all alone. The Senators made one more hit than the bean eaters and one less run.

The inconsistent Yanks consistently lost. The score, 10 to 1, in favor of the Philadelphians.

SAYS MAINE IS HONEST

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 13.—"The people of Maine are at last going to be honest with themselves," said Governor Plaisted of Maine today, commenting on yesterday's vote against prohibition in the pine tree state. "I believe that under local option laws that are now likely to be passed, we will see more actual prohibition in Maine than we have ever seen under the prohibition amendment. We have had too much law in Maine and too little moral suasion."

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE ELOPES WITH COOK

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Because fish bite with more regularity in the evening and early morning hours, Walter Lispenard Suydam, young millionaire fisherman of Blue Point, L. I., today mourned the loss of his handsome young wife, who, he says, has eloped with the son of a Brooklyn plumber.

Both Suydam and his wife are members of old and wealthy Knickerbocker families, and Mrs. Suydam is a niece of the late Stanford White. The youth Suydam accused of having eloped with his wife is Frederick Noble, who had been employed as a cook on the Suydam yacht.

"I am intensely interested in fishing," said Suydam sadly today, "and because fish bite better at night I was often away from home. I learned that during my absence young Noble was often with my wife, and when I taxed her with it, she admitted she did not love me any more and intended running away with Noble. And now she has gone."

PROF. D. C. FABER HERE FOR WORK

Expert with University Extension Arrived in La Crosse Last Night

Professor D. C. Faber, who is to have charge of the engineering work in the University Extension Division, which was opened here this week, arrived in the city last night and will be in his department in the Longfellow school building on the corner of Vine and Sixth street Friday, Sept. 15th, where he will be pleased to meet all who are interested in doing work along the engineering line.

Professor Faber is a graduate from the engineering school of the state university of Illinois and in addition has had practical experience as shopman, having been connected with engineering department of the Pennsylvania railroad shops several years. Professor Faber was connected with the engineering experimental station of the Illinois university two years, and last year had charge of the engineering work in the university extension division in the Milwaukee district.

The Extension Department offers some excellent courses in engineering lines, and the young men of this city are fortunate in having a man of Professor Faber's caliber in charge of the work.

Among the many courses offered are the following: Shop mathematics, including applied arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry and calculus. This course is elementry, and is planned to meet the needs of the men and boys working in shops. Courses are also offered in mechanical engineering, including mechanical drawing, mechanical drafting, machine design, stationary engineering, heating and ventilation, gas power plants, steam engine and boiler operation; in structural engineering, including structural designing, building construction, masonry and reinforced concrete, bridge construction, structural drafting; in electrical engineering, including lighting and wiring, car operation, telephone operation, station operation, power transmission, dynamo operation, meter reading, etc.

All who are interested in any phase of engineering work are invited to meet Professor Faber Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Longfellow school building on the corner of Sixth and Vine streets.

IMPROPER FEEDING FATAL TO BABIES

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Of the 280,000 babies of less than one year who in 1909 died in the United States 113,000 were victims of improper feeding, according to a statement by Nathan Straus, the New York philanthropist in an address before the International Congress for the Protection of Infants. The protection of infants, has now, Straus added, reached the proportions of a national crusade in America, plans being in course of development to save the lives of at least 125,000 annually. That infant deaths due to disease conveyed in milk can be prevented he asserted, has been amply proving.

Olmstead hold a series of evangelistic services at Veefkind, beginning Monday e vening, Sept. 11; that Rev. D. C. Jones give an address Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, at Greenwood on the subject, "The Presbyterian Church; Its Activities Past and Present;" that Rev. Benjamin Thomas speak on the same evening in Rutger's chapel on "Some of the Problems of the Country Church and How to Solve Them." Some time on Wednesday an opportunity will be given to Rev. Richard Pughe to report briefly regarding the recent conference held in the church at North Bend on young people's work, and also to Rev. W. H. Parri-Jones on "Impressions of the Summer School of Religion at the University of Wisconsin, July 17-28, 1911."

SATURDAY DATE OF BIG CHURCH PICNIC

The annual Sunday school picnic of the St. Paul's Universalist church will be held Saturday, September 16, at Myrick park. The members of the church and parish who will attend the picnic will meet in a body at the church at 10 o'clock. Special conveyances will be provided for the little folks.

PICCOLO MIDGETS AT THE MAJESTIC

World's Smallest Entertainers to Open Thursday Show at Popular Playhouse

Another big feature show is slated for the last half of the week starting with the matinee Thursday at the Majestic. The star attraction will be the Piccolo Midgets, who are without exception the smallest and most perfectly formed midgets in the world. They are of German parentage, now American citizens, and their ages range from 29 to 36 years. Two of them are brothers. Their comedy acrobatic stunt is great and the boxing match never fails to bring forth outbursts of laughter from all parts of the house.

Fitch Cooper, as the rube musician and imitator, uses all sorts of instruments of a freak nature, and the excellence of the music he extracts from his odd outfit is immensely interesting and comical.

Another high class singing act comes under the title of the Star Operatic Trio, the fine appearance in Colonial costumes, and the sweetness of the voices will be another rare treat for lovers of good singing, as this act comes very highly recommended.

A side splitting comedy, known as "The Two Aldermen" with original comedy and a touch of pathos, showing the difference between an alderman of two regimes ago and a present day politician.

For those who like good banjo playing with excellent singing, the act of Kollins and Hunter is bound to please.

The new pictures will be in keeping with the balance of the bill, which will be one of great merit and exceptionally pleasing.

The Piccolo Midgets will be of great interest to all children and their special arrangement of their act for Saturday afternoon should assure the management of a capacity house, as the little fellows always make special efforts to please the children.

PORTUGUESE PLOT NIPPED IN THE BUD

LISBON, Sept. 13.—Wholesale arrests are being made as a result of the discovery of a formidable royalist plot against the new Portuguese republic. The conspirators made their headquarters at Iranna Castello, where important documents were today seized, implicating several personal friends of ex-King Manuel himself.

High officials in the republican government say Manuel is encouraging the Portuguese royalists from his haven in England and complaints will probably be sent to the British ministry of foreign affairs. Inasmuch that it is known that the king has already been told he must not involve England in any dispute with Portugal, it is considered not unlikely that he may receive a hint that his departure from British soil is desired.

WORKMEN'S DAY AT CONFERENCE

Liability and Compensation Discussed by House of Governors; Hay Talks Insurance

COMPANIES ARE DENOUNCED

Washington System and Its Workings Explained; Uniform Divorce Laws Urged

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 13.—Denunciation of "those fungoid, social parasites—the indemnity, casualty or liability companies" enlivened Governor Hay's address before the house of governors today on the manner in which the state of Washington solved the workmen's compensation problem. Asserting that no private enterprise or institution can cope with the problem, Hay pointed out the abuses that induced Washington to take upon itself the work of making amicable adjustment between employer and workman when the latter is killed or incapacitated while laboring.

"Through the absurdly, refined and elaborate series of 'fellow servant' contributory negligence and assumption of risk, but $100,000 out of $600,000 collected from Washington employers in 1909 ever reached the injured workman or his family," said Hay. "Consequently the state was willing to go any length by way of radical legislation to correct the enormous abuses of the old system. I was reasonably certain that the solution of the problem lay not in still further encumbering the statutes with technical legislation but in establishing a system of state insurance whereby a certain percentage should be levied on the employers and payrolls and set aside as a fund to care for the victims of industrial accidents.

"Accordingly the legislature has enacted a law, the intent of which is to provide full and certain protection to employer and employe at the flat cost of compensation to the injured workman. Working on the belief that the welfare of the state depends on its industries and even more upon the welfare of its wage earners, the commission that administers this law is doing its utmost to protect both sides. And for the most part manufacturers are aiding in every way, aiding the system materially."

Governor Hay then explained in detail the provisions of the act that make independent schedules for nearly fifty classes of industry and the success that has attended the administration of the law.

Working Men's Day

This was working men's day at the conference of governors with employers' liability and working men's compensation as the big subjects for discussion.

The question of uniform state laws throughout the country on the subject of employers' liability was scheduled for debate, with Governors Hay of Washington and Foss of Massachusetts as the principal speakers. All of the details of government care for the working man were threshed out.

Strong opinions on the marriage and divorce situation were enunciated today by Governor Carey of Wyoming. In an interview Carey declared that when a divorced person has been denied the right of remarriage in one state, his remarriage should be illegal in all states.

"I am going to bring this matter of remarriage to the attention of the conference," said Carey. "Marriage is a civil contract and the constitution contemplates that a contract made in one state should be binding in all others. In other words, a civil contract cannot be avoided by one of its makers moving temporarily into another state."

PARK WATER PIPES TO BE LAID SOON

Pipes for the water system at the Levee park are to be laid within a few days and the sprinkling system will then have a start, which will make it ready for use when the park is opened. The park commission has been laying lines for the pipes for some time and that work has now been completed.

According to the plans there will be a three inch main which will run through the park and from which the smaller pipes will branch off. The first pipes nearest the main will be 2½ inches, while the next size is to be 2 inches. All uprights are to be 1½ inches, so as to fit that size hose.

Either six or seven taps are to be installed, the exact number to be decided upon later. This will furnish an excellent sprinkling system, as plenty of water for the park can be secured from this number of taps.

No plans have as yet been made for artesian fountains, but if it is later decided to install them, there are several places which can be utilized for the purpose.

SEARCH WARRANT REVEALS BRASS

Following the issuing of two search warrants officials yesterday, it is alleged, found many pounds of brass, claimed to belong to the C. B. & Q. railway in the warehouse of the La Crosse Scrap Iron and Metal company. The railroad, according to officials, has been the victim of thefts covering a period of many months. One search warrant called for nineteen brass journal boxes, valued at $2 each, while the other called for fifty brass journal boxes.

GOVERNOR'S JOB A SOP TO DIPLOMAT

Boom for David Jayne Hill for Republican Nomination in New York Starts Story

AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY

Financial Moses Needed to Lead Party Out of Wilderness; Leishman Chosen

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A boom for David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany, for the republican nomination for governor of New York next fall, which came to light here today revealed some astonishing diplomatic sentiment. It developed that the scholarly ambassador was promised the gubernatorial nomination as a sop, for his removal from the Berlin post. The ambassadors post was needed for the "good of the party," financially, it was said.

A shift that resulted in the strengthening of republican national finances resulted in Hill's resignation. With the treasury in a parlous state it became apparent that some good job had to go to someone who could help finance the 1912 campaign, the story goes.

Lars Andersen was the first candidate selected, as financially he was well fitted to help out. Hill then was slated for the ax.

Reluctantly but with the declaration: "I am a good republican," Hill whose services at Berlin had been eminently satisfactory, accepted the inevitable. After much dispute John A. G. Leishman was finally chosen, it is said, as the financial Moses to guide republican finances out of the wilderness. Leishman, steel magnate and former president of the Carnegie Steel company, was well able to fill the role.

But Hill's reluctance at leaving the post where he had really made good was so great that the leaders found it necessary to promise him something. The New York governorship was the easiest thing in sight. Just how successful the attempt to land it will be is entirely speculative.

GIRL DISTURBS COURTROOM ROUTINE

One of the most dramatic scenes enacted in the county court for some time was witnessed this morning when Marie Gleckmer, age 16, upon being committed to the Good Shepherd's home in Milwaukee by Judge Brindley, burst into tears and emphatically anounced her intention to remain where she was.

After much persuasion on the part of the undersheriff she finally ceased the defiant attitude which she had assumed during the hearing and accompanied him with the declaration that she "didn't care anyway."

According to the assertions of Miss Gleckmer, disagreements with her stepmother, Mrs. Anton Gleckmer, caused her to leave her home and earn her own living.

Mrs. Gleckmer declares that Miss Gleckmer has been keeping late hours, which was corroborated by her husband, who asked that the girl be sent to some home until she became of age.

MRS. BERTHA HARMS DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Bertha Harms, aged 42 years of 713 Jackson street, died at one of the local hospitals at 8:15 last night after a lingering illness. She was the wife of Fred Harms.

Mrs. Harms is survived by her husband, an aged mother and father, three sisters, Mrs. O. Lenz of Reno, Mrs. Nic Verse and Mrs. A. G. Bey of La Crosse, and two brothers, Albert Kuehn of New Albin and Ernest P. Kuehn of Viroqua.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon from the residence at 2 o'clock and from the German Lutheran church at 2:30, with Rev. Julius Gamm officiating. Interment will take place in Oak Grove cemetery, Mrs. Theodore Mannstedt in charge of the funeral arrangements.

TEN YEARS OF HORRIBLE HEADACHE

Husband Tells Story of Mrs. Guthrie's Long Illness and Is Glad She Is Now Relieved

BEAUFORT, N. C.—Mr. Luther Guthrie writes as follows: "My wife suffered with horrible headaches for ten years, and I spent three hundred dollars for doctor bills for her, but nothing did her any good.

I had read about Cardui for years back, but never tried it, until last October, when I decided to get it for my wife.

Now she has taken two bottles, and it has done her two thousand dollars worth of good.

She is entirely well, and has not had another attack of headache since she commenced to take Cardui.

Just as long as the medicine is made, I shall have Cardui in my home. I can't praise it half enough."

Cardui has cured sick women, after other medicines have failed. It is made of ingredients that act specifically on the womanly constitution. It is not a cure all. It is a medicine for women, and only for women.

For more than 50 years, it has been in widely extended use by women of all ages, and has given perfect satisfaction, as a remedy for rebuilding womanly health and strength.

Try it yourself. It will help you.

LA CROSSE PASTOR WEDS WEDNESDAY

Rev. Iver Slatte Takes Evanston, Ill., Girl for Wife, Says Paper There

The following from the "Index," Evanston, Ill., is an account of the Rev. Iver Slatte's marriage:

"The marriage of Miss Esther Elina Larsen, 1106 Church street, to Rev. Iver Slatte of La Crosse, Wis., was solemnized Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Norwegian-Danish Methodist church on Clark street. The service was read by Dr. N. E. Simonsen, president of the Norwegian-Danish Theological seminary, of which the bridegroom is an alumnus. He was assisted by Rev. P. M. Peterson of Minneapolis, N. K. Mathsen of Chicago, and Rev. H. P. Bergh, pastor of the church.

"The bride was attended by Miss Marie Rienstad as maid of honor and Misses Elizabeth Olsen and Hannah Nelson as bridesmaids. The attendants of the groom were Rev. S. Fosdahl of Buffalo, N. Y., as best man, and Rev. Jacob Bringedahl of Leland, Ill., and Rev. Gustaf Krisgaard of Warren, Minn., as groomsmen. The ushers were Christian Golee, Thor Loberg, Peter Hougeland and Christian Olsen.

"Miss Ella Bergh, daughter of the pastor, presided at the organ.

"The bride was gowned in white messaline satin. Her veil was fastened with sprays of Norwegian myrtle, a custom of that country. Her bouquet was white roses and swansonia. The maid of honor wore a gown of white silk and carried white roses.

"The bridesmaids were dressed alike in white silk mull and carried bouquets of pink roses. The church was artistically decorated with palms and pink and white asters. After the ceremony the large company was invited to the church parlors where an elaborate wedding supper was served, during which many congratulatory speeches, interspersed with music, were made by ministers of prominence from all parts of the United States, who were returning from the recent conference held at Racine. Rev. Bergh, who was master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers in a gracious and hospitable manner—and eloquence, pathos and merriment all were set forth to the delight of the company. Many out of town guests were present, among them Rev. Rohen Peterson, wife and daughter, of Omaha, Neb. They formerly lived in Evanston and were welcomed by hosts of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Slatte left for La Crosse, Wis., where Rev. Slatte is pastor of a prominent church."

WARNINGER-DIMLER NUPTIALS TUESDAY

Miss Elsie Wilma Warninger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Warninger, was married last night to Harry A. Dimler at the home of her parents, 1214 Ferry street. The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock. Rev. Julius Gamm officiating. Miss Vernie Warninger, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and Miss Elsie Techner was bridesmaid. Elmer Warninger, brother of the bride, served as best man, and Gus Jaekel, groomsman. Miss Gretchen Grams, a niece of the bridegroom, was usher. Mr. and Mrs. Dimler left late yesterday evening for a short honeymoon trip. They will be at home after their return at 628 South Seventh street.

VISITOR FROM SKY ALARMS SPINSTER

Aviator Taking Little Trip from New York to San Francisco Lost in the Air

HE LANDS IN A WHEATFIELD

Villagers Astonished by the Sudden Appearance of Birdman; Seeks Map of Country

ASHBROOK, N. J., Sept. 13.—"Well, of all the things I ever saw," ejaculated Miss Emily Robinson as she stood in her doorway today and watched a total stranger volplane gracefully toward earth and land with a quiver in a wheat field opposite the Robinson homestead. Miss Robinson summoned her sisters, Misses Sarah and Mary. After apologizing for trespassing the stranger explained that he was James J. Ward and would they kindly lend him a map of New Jersey and point out to him where he was.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 13.—After flying about 25 miles on his second attempt to reach Middleton, N. Y., this afternoon, Jimmy Ward, coast to coast flyer, came down in this city. He was unhurt and descended because he had once more lost his bearings and was being harassed by strong head winds.

Ward, in a biplane, ascended at Governors Island, New York, in an effort to fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific for a $50,000 prize. He had intended following the tracks of the Erie railroad to Middletown, N. Y., but after passing Jersey City lost his course.

He sailed on and on until he spied what he later pronounced the best landing place he had ever seen—the Misses Robinson's wheat field. Down went the planes and a moment later the aviator was climbing out of his machine. He strode toward where the greatly astonished spinster stood in rigid contemplation of the weird visitor from the sky.

All Ashbrook could not produce one map suitable to guide the aviator across New Jersey and a special messenger was dispatched to Picton, four miles away, for a map.

During the wait Ward went over his machine and declared that he would resume the flight just as soon as he had a chart.

Ward left Governors Island at 9:10 o'clock and descended here 45 minutes later. Although Ashbrook is but 12 miles from New York it was estimated that the aviator had traveled fully 35 miles.

The rumor that there was a map in Picton proved a false alarm and upon learning this the messenger made tracks for New York.

Fowler to Try Again

ALTA, Cal., Sept. 13.—Undaunted by the accident to his biplane near here yesterday when he himself narrowly escaped death. Aviator Robert G. Fowler announced today that he would resume his attempt to fly across the continent Friday or Saturday. Three mechanicians who arrived here on the special train which is following Fowler in his cross country flight, are busily engaged in repairing the aeroplane.

Although Fowler's back is wrenched and he is badly bruised, none of his injuries is serious enough to prevent him from resuming the flight.

UNIVERSALISTS TO GIVE RECEPTION

The first reception to the students and faculty of the normal school will be given Friday evening in the St. Paul's Universalist church. A delight program of musical numbers and readings has been selected for the occasion. The program has not been definitely settled, but will probably include selections by Miss Eva Bennett at the organ, soprano solos by Miss Alma Hosley, baritone solos by Harry Runge, and selections on the violin by Miss Pearl Norris. Reading will be given by Dr. W. H. Colman. The musical part of the program will be given in the main auditorium of the church, after which the gathering will adjourn to the church parlors, where the evening will be spent in games and other forms of amusement. Refreshments will be served. The entertainment is in the hands of the Young People's Union of the church, and is an annual event.

POWDER MILL BLOWS UP.

SOUTH ACTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—A powder explosion literally wiped out No. 7 mill of the American Powder Mills company here today. No one was in the mill at the time. About 500 pounds of black powder let go. Overheated bearings in the grinding apparatus are believed to have caused the explosion.

GEORGE CAMPBELL DIES ON TUESDAY

Son of Local Newsdealer Dies in St. Louis After Brief Illness With Malaria

Word was received in La Crosse yesterday of the death of George Campbell, aged 29 years, a La Crosse boy who has been traveling for the Housekeeper Publishing company of New York. The young man died in St. Louis, after an illness of a week with malarial fever. George A. Campbell, proprietor of Campbell's newsstand, father of the young man, was with his son at the time of his death, having been summoned a week ago by the news of his illness.

George Campbell was well known and liked in La Crosse, having lived here all his life. He was for some time connected with the collection department of The Tribune, and for the last two years has been in the employ of the Housekeeper company.

The body will arrive this evening at 5:45. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, and will be announced later.

Will and Catherine Campbell, of Winnipeg, arrived this noon, and Louis Campbell, Washington, D. C., will arrive this evening, to be present at the funeral services.

LADIES' TAILORS VOTE TO STRIKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—My Lady's new fall gowns will be late in coming this year, for today 10,000 ladies' tailors decided to strike, following the failure of a conference of tailors and employes to reach an agreement on wage and hour demands.

The question of piecework was the determining factor in assuring the strike. On all other points a compromise could have been effected.

The union leaders declare they may call out 18,000 workers and tie up the entire cloak and suit business of the city. The employers immediately organized an association to fight the strike.

CHINESE REBELLION IS BEYOND CONTROL

SHANGHAI, Sept. 13.—Szechuan province is in rebellion practically from end to end today. Reinforcements to the loyal troops are enroute to aid in attempting to suppress the outbreak. A declaration of the province independence is hourly expected. It is believed all foreigners living there have safely reached Chunking, where American and British gunboats have arrived.

JOSEPH HAFNER LAID AWAY

The funeral of Joseph Hafner, the civil war veteran who died on Saturday, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence, 1436 Farnam street, at 2 o'clock and from the Presbyterian church at 2:30, Rev. D. C. Jones preaching the sermon. The G. A. R., of which Mr. Hafner was a member, attended the services. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery, the pall bearers being R. E. Osborn, Henry Vincent, Samuel Surtin, Joseph Birgemaster, John M. Weber, Emanuel Markel.

GOULDS MAY LOSE ROAD

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—That the Gould control of the Rio Grande railway system is at an end and that the Rockefeller interests are to take charge is the belief here today following the rumor that E. T. Jeffery will resign the presidency of the road at a special meeting of the board of directors here Oct. 16. The meeting ostensibly is called for the sole purpose of electing a directorate but the belief is that more important changes will take place.

FANS MUST JOIN UNION.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—Rather than use fans that did not bear union labels, the bakers' and confectioners' union in session here preferred to swelter in the heat. During a heated discussion advertising fans were distributed to the delegates. They fanned furiously fr a few minutes until a member discovered that the articles did not bear a union label, when they were discarded.

CANADIANS BET ON RECIPROCITY

Laurier Expects Prairie and Maritime Provinces to Counteract Manufacturing Centers

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 13.—Both political parties in Canada are confident of victory in the reciprocity election on Thursday of next week, but the betting today favors the liberals and reciprocity. In the last house Sir Wilfred Laurier had a majority of 45 of the 221 seats. He is counting on a majority at least as large in the next commons, expecting to make up in the prairie and maritime provinces for any losses in Quebec.

The conservatives point out that they need only gain twenty seats to make it impossible for the government to remain in office. They are emphasizing the unfriendly tariff treatment Canada has always received from the United States, the statements of American statesmen as to the probability of reciprocity leading to political union, and even General Hull's message to the Canadian people during the war of 1812 when he urged them to escape British tyranny.

It seems probable that the manufacturing centers will be against the government as they fear the reduction of duties on natural products is but the thin edge of the wedge. The conservatives expect to increase their majority of sixteen in Ontario to thirty and in Quebec almost to wipe out the Laurier majority of 41.

Sir Wilfred is very hopeful that the farmers will keep down the conservative majority in Ontario.

Altogether owing to the break of party ties, the result is very uncertain, but most authorities today predicted a slightly reduced majority for the government and its reciprocity policy.

PRINCE PALATINE WINS ENGLISH RACE

DONCASTER, Enug., Sept. 13.—T. Pilkinton's Prince Palatine, at odds of ten to three, won the St. Leger stakes, the last of the English season's classic three-year-old races today. J. B. Joel's Lycaon, at ten to three, and the Earl of Derby's King William, at six to four, were respectively second and third. The race was worth $32,500 to the winner, the distance was one and three-quarters miles. Eight horses ran. Time 3:06.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—After a firm and higher opening in the Liverpool wheat market, influenced by the strength displayed here at the close there was a sudden weakening in the foreign market and at the time of opening on this side, wheat was quoted at a decline. Cables told of reselling by the continent. At noon, however, September and December wheat were up. Winnipeg was the cause of early weakening in wheat trade as that market had an early break.

Shorts in September corn have been nervous for days and there was a fresh buying flurry in that month today. September corn opened at 67 with an increase of 1⅛ by noon.

Helped by corn, oats futures showed fair gains during the morning.

Provisions remained steady throughout the trading.

TROUBLES IN SPAIN CAUSE GRAVE ALARM

MADRID, Sept. 13.—Strikes are breaking out all over Spain. They are of a revolutionary character, and the government shows signs of grave alarm. The constitution was suspended yesterday at Bilbao and today at Vizcaya. Fights are of frequency between troops and strikers, especially at Bilbao, where 5,000 soldiers have already been concentrated and more are arrivng.

To add to the government's troubles, there are fresh signs of hostility on the part of the natives in the Spanish sphere of influence in North Africa. It is officially announced that a Spanish colonel and fifteen men were killed in an ambush on the Kert river bank. The losses were much heavier. The Moors are steadily aggressive.

Windy City Swatters Win Battle, but McGrawites Take Two; Brookies Sting Phillies

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Brooklyn 11, Philadelphia 6

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13. — The Dodgers defeated the Phillies yesterday 11 to 6, thus evening the series. Manager Dooin sent in four twirlers but none of them could stop the Dodgers from pounding the ball all over the lot. Six runs were scored in the first thre innings by the Dodgers' bunching hingles and doubles. Score:

	R	H	E
Phila.	002102100	6	12	3
Brooklyn	321200120	11	17	2

Batteries—Stack, Hall, Stanley, Chalmers, Madden and Walsh; Knetzer, Rucker and Erwin.

New York 9-11, Boston 6-2

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—By capturing both games with the Rustlers, the Giants are now leading the Cubs by sixteen points for pennant honors. Marquard weakened in the eighth of the first game and Crandall relieved him after the Rustlers had scored five runs on five singles and a double. Manager Tenny decided not to take a chance with young Hogg in the eighth so he sent in Hank Griffin. The Giants pounded him hard and netted four runs and the game.

The Giants made enough runs to win the first inning of the second game, sending three Giants home on a single and two home runs by Doyle and Merkle. A single and two doubles in the sixth prevented the Rustlers from being shut out. Scores:

First game—	R	H	E
Boston	100000500	6	13	1
New York	020120040	9	9	0

Batteries—Perdue, Hogg, Griffin and Kling; Marquard, Crandall and Myers.

Second game—	R	H	E
Boston	000002000	2	8	2
New York	324000002	11	15	3

Batteries—Young, Tyler and Rariden; Mathewson, Crandall, Myers, Wilson and Haitey.

Chicago 3, Cincinnati 2

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—Despite King Cole's strenuous efforts to present the game to the Reds he was foiled and the Cubs won, 3 to 2. Cole tied himself in knots repeatedly and it was only because Keefe, McLean and Grant produced more wild stuff than the barber that the latter got away with the game. The score:

	R	H	E
Cincinnati	010010000	2	7	4
Chicago	100020000	3	5	2

Batteries—Keene and McLean; Cole and Needham.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—The Sox took a dull, listless game from the Browns 5 to 0 yesterday. Score:

	R	H	E
St. Louis	000000000	0	8	0
Chicago	120200000	5	11	1

Batteries—Pelty, Stephens and Clarke; Scott and Block.

Boston 6, Washington 5

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — Tris Speaker won a hard fought game for Boston when he drove in the much needed run with a clean single in the ninth. The final count was 6 to 5. Score:

	R	H	E
Washington	000110300	5	10	4
Boston	001111101	5	9	4

Batteries—Groom and Street; Ciccotte, O'Brien, Nunamaker and Williams.

Detroit 9, Cleveland 6

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Jennings worked the "thirteen" jinx on the Naps and the Tigers won a hard fought battle 9 to 6. As on Sunday the game went thirteen innings and darkness had fallen when the players trotted off the field in the final session. Score:

	R	H	E
Cleve..	1002000030000	6	10	4
Detroit	0010023000003	9	18	1

WHITE HOPES TO CLASH FRIDAY

Oklahoma Giant Will Meet Johnson if He Wins from Flynn; Fireman Is Favorite

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma "hope," will have the supreme test next Friday night when he tackles Jim Flynn, the slayer of hopes. The men will meet at New York city Friday night. If Morris survives the sporting public will take him seriously, but he must beat Flynn decisively to be considered.

Morris first came into prominence by beating an Indian named Euchre Joe, who had terrorized the police force, and the victor was at once heralded as the man to put the snuffer on Johnson. Morris followed his defeat of Euchre Joe by beating several pugilists well and favorably known in Sapulpa, Tekulsa and other thriving centers of trade and population in Oklahoma, and thereafter Morris relapsed into a reflective, contemplative train of mind, and is still on the side track.

If looks counted for anything in the squared circle Morris' brows would already be decorated with the bays of victory. Physically he is an inspiring spectacle. Johnson and Jeffries are pygmies in comparison, as is shown by the following measurements:

Johnson—Age, 33 years; weight, 250 pounds; height, 6 feet 1 inch; chest, 40 inches; reach, 72 inches.

Morris—Age, 26 years; weight, 235 pounds; height, 6 feet 4 inches; chest, 49 inches; reach, 81 inches.

Jeffries—Age, 35 years; weight, 225 pounds; height, 6 feet 1¼ inches; chest, 46 inches; reach, 75 inches.

Morris' record in the ring to date is as follows:

Tim Hurley, knocked out, third round; Ed Anderson, knocked out, third round; Battling Britt, knocked out, one round; Jim Harper, knocked out, third round; Marvin Hart, knocked out, fourth round; Spike Kennedy, knocked out, second round; Mike Schreck, knocked out, sixth round.

Flynn Favorite in Betting

For the first time in his career, Flynn, the fighting fireman of Pueblo, will rule favorite for an important batle when he meets Morris.

Flynn, who was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1879, has been a boxer for about ten years. During this time he has fought more than 150 battles. Yet he has lost only five batles in his career, two to Sam Langford, one to Al Kaufman, one to Jack Johnson and one to Tommy Burns.

No. 83—NAP LAJOIE

THE BOY THEY NAMED A TEAM AFTER

"They named a big league ball club after him." A century from now, when they come to count up the life and adventures of Lajoie, this simple summary should suffice. They named a big league ball club after him. Just at present, while the gent is strictly alive, it is as well to mention in these advices a few trifling details in connection with his career, for a word to the man who is quick is more valued than a volume to the man who is dead.

Wherefore let us not conceal the fact that Napoleon Lajoie, prophetically named by farsighted parents, stands out as far and away in advance of other batting marvels as a modern arc lamp leads a parlor match. For thirteen years he batted better than .300. In 1901, 3, 4, 5, he led the American league in the use of the axe handle. You can take ten of his batting years and add them up and divide for an average and you'll get a percentage of .370. Or you can take an individual year and see where he drew down a mark of .422.

Besides, you can look over his fielding record for second base activities, without danger of finding something that won't harmonize with his batting perfection. In 1901 he led the American league with a percentage of .963. The following year, he brought joy to the hearts of the Cleveland fans by the masterly manner in which he guarded his territory, and again he led the league with a fielding figure of .974. In 1905, our gentleman was at his fielding best. He romped away with the big honors, scoring the record breaking percentage of .991, out of a possible thousand. This is a high level which has never been approximated by any player in either of the big leagues since organized baseball has existed.

Lajoie was born in Rhode Island, and long ago a marvelling and appreciative populace would have made him senator if they could have found something else for Aldrich to do. But perhaps Nap has been more congenially placed in his baseball position. You never heard of any baseball clubs being named Nelson, because Aldrich was a .300 hitter, did you? But they've been calling the Cleveland team by Lajoie's first name for a decade, or something like that. The "Naps" glory, eh?

You first hear anything of consequence about Lajoie in connection with the Fall River team, where he caught for a spell in the nineties. Even in those days he was a wiz, and it is no wonder Fall River fell for him. Of course the big league heard about him, and whisked him away to the wider fields, and there he cut out his own work for himself and governed himself by nobody's precedent. His batting ability soon made him a popular idol, and in Philadelphia and later in Cleveland he was all the aces, so far as the crowds could acclaim.

Lajoie, in addition to being able to hit 'em harder than almost anybody that comes to mind, has the unusual faculty of picking his places. He doesn't fear any pitcher living, and he doesn't care how the fielders set themselves for him—He is generally able to overcome the pitcher's cunning, and then plant the ball where he sees no fielders. Hugh Duffy, who must be listened to when he speaks, says he would rather play Lajoie if Nap had only one arm, than he would any other star he can think of. Certainly, Lajoie has a wonderful weapon up his sleeve. He can do with it almost the miraculous. One time, when he was playing in Milwaukee, and two of his mates were on bases, and he was at bat, the pitcher tried to pass him. He pitched fully three feet outside the plate. Lerry let two of them go by and then landed on the third one—which was just as wide as the others—and drove the ball over the center field fence for a foursome. Don't wonder they name teams after him, do you?

JIM JEFFRIES CAN'T BE FOUND

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 13.—There is considerable anxiety here among the friends of James J. Jeffries, the pugilist, who is hunting on the Kenai peninsula, Alaska, far from civilization. Cables received from Seward, Alaska, declare that two weeks ago scouts were sent into the wilds of the peninsula to locate Jeffries and send him back here to the bedside of his mother, who is ill. The scouts searched for two weeks but reported that they could find no trace of the pugilist. The Kenai peninsula is in a very wild country and the pugilist's friends here fear he may have lost his way.

RECORDS BROKEN ON EASTERN TRACK

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Three world's records were shattered Monday in the opening day's grand circuit races at the New York state fair track. Billy Burke, 2:03¾, driven by "Lon" McDonald, and Spanish Queen, Gus Macey's bay mare, trotted the fastest three heats race the world has ever known, the event being recorded in the chamber of commerce stakes for 2:07 trotters.

Billy Burke took the major part of the $2,000 purse after Macey's mare had taken the first heat. The time for the three heats was 2:04¼, 2:04¼, 2:04¾. The best previous record for three heats was held by Sonoma Girl and Country Jay at Kalamazoo early last season. The time was 2:04.., 2:05¼, 2:05½.

AMERICANS DOWN BRITISH STARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Barring New Zealand, American can today lay claim to the swiftest tennis players in the world, Champion Bill Larned and Young Maurice McLoughlin. They administered a sound threshing to the best England could send over, Dixon and Lowe, and it won't be long before they will make the New Zealand holders of the Davis cup hustle to retain the trophy.

ATHLETES TO MEET

There is to be a meeting of the Boy's Athletic association of the high school to elect officers for the coming year. This is the first meeting of the year for the high school boys and it is their custom to elect their officials at that time.
